

How will it accurately discern truth?

Will it simply tell the truth about a situation or person or ask a question to help the hearers discern it? Or..?

How might it show spiritual failure or success?

God shows us failure, so we can repent; He shows us success to encourage us. Which do your hearers need?

What specific events or persons will it point to?

What promises will it hold?

It can promise prosperity or turmoil or both.

What future end does the prophecy have?

This is the end you hope to bring by the last page of your book or in the last book of your series.

Remember: what God says is true is true.
Plan carefully and make sure the story lines
up with the prophecy, or the prophecy lines up with the book. It's about representing God as the Truth!

The last page is for your prophecy!
